The New Standard for African Marketing

MARKTN is a next generation marketing and public relations company, founded in 2026 to redefine how brands engage with the Nigerian and broader African market. The name is stylized evolution of “Marketing” - reflecting a core philosophy: marketing should not be repeated, it should be re-imagined.

MARKTN partners with local, international, and global brands to design campaigns that are relevant to African audiences and position Africa as a key driver of global cultural influence.

Our Brand Identity

MARKTN is marketing, just not as you know it. Our identity is bold, unconventional, and built around the idea of going beyond the brief. The asterisk, traditionally used to point to something beyond what's written, represents our belief that there's always more to explore, question, and uncover. Placed on the K, it draws attention to the unconventional spelling of our name, turning a deliberate difference into our most recognizable symbol. Because at MARKTN, the brief is where we start, not where we stop.
